

README for Channel Position-Related Analyses

Scripts for analysis of channel position effects

The R scripts in this folder run all analyses leveraging variation in FNC's channel positions across cable systems. Note that these scripts depend on raw transcripts which are licensed from Nexis and are not included in the archive.

Scripts in this folder

- `mediamark-analysis.R`: Analyzes the relationships between FNC channel positions and FNC viewership.
- `protest-analysis.R`: Analyzes the relationships between FNC channel positions or ratings and Tea Party rallies.
- `candidacy-analysis.R`: Analyzes the relationships between FNC channel positions and Tea Party candidacy.
- `donations-analysis-main.R`: Analyzes the relationships between FNC channel positions and individual campaign contributions to Tea Party candidates, non-Tea Party Republican candidates, and Democratic candidates.
- `donations-analysis-misc.R`: Analyzes heterogeneity in the relationships between FNC channel positions and individual campaign contributions to Tea Party candidates by donor attributes.
- `vote-analysis.R`: Analyzes the relationships between FNC channel positions and Republican primary voting for Tea Party candidates.

Packages Required

The following R packages (available from CRAN) are needed to run the scripts in this folder:

- `tidyverse`
- `lubridate`

- `haven`
- `fixest`
- `magrittr`
- `cobalt`
- `xtable`
- `ggplot2`
- `MASS`
- `plm`
- `lmtest`
- `broom`
- `ggthemes`
- `readr`
- `stringr`
- `stargazer`
- `doMC`
